IK Multimedia Announces New Distributor for the Benelux

April 2005, Modena, Italy – Frankfurt Musikmesse 2005. IK Multimedia announces that Futureware is now the new distributor for the Benelux region. Futureware will handle the distribution of the entire IK Multimedia range of products in the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxemburg.

Shahid Munir from Futureware Denmark said, "We at Futureware are most delighted to announce that IK Multimedia has chosen us as their new distribution partner in the Benelux. IK Multimedia's range of state-of-the-art products fits perfectly with our carefully selected solutions for the computer based music production. We have supplied the Danish music market with the IK range very successfully and are now very much looking forward to expanding the operation to the Benelux countries".

Futureware is a well-known and established distributor of hardware and software for the computer music industry in Denmark. Renowned for distributing many of the best brand names like Adam, Ego Systems, Novation and TFPro in the computer music industry, IK Multimedia is most pleased to welcome Futureware as the new distributor for the Benelux.

"We regard Futureware as the perfect distribution partner to meet the steadily increasing demand for IK Multimedia's growing range of highly acclaimed music software products in the Benelux. They have handled the distribution of the complete IK product range with great success in Denmark and have proven to be admirably enthusiastic about our products. We are very confident that their commitment and competence will be able to excel also in the Benelux and we will together be able to offer an excellent service to all the resellers there." Said Enrico Iori, President and CEO of IK Multimedia.
